Former Intelligence Agent Will Be Speaker At Church

Lloyd S. Millegan, a Methodist layman from Eugene, will be guest speaker at the 11 a.m. service of the First Methodist Church in Klamath Falls today.

Millegan, who will speak on the subject "New Frontiers in Oregon," is a 1939 graduate of Linfield College. He has recently returned with his family to Oregon and is a Teaching Fellow in the Political Science Department of the University of Oregon where he is studying for a Ph.D. in political science and higher education.

While at Linfield College, Millegan spent one year as an exchange student to the University of Shanghai. After graduation he was employed in Washington at the Library of Congress, later served with the Army in the Pacific during World War II, and came back to Washington with the State Department and the Central Intelligence Agency. After leaving government service, business interests and research projects have taken him back to Asia on several occasions. In 1951-52 he and his family lived in Indonesia. During the summer of 1956 he and his wife traveled extensively again in most of the countries of Asia.

He has been active as a layman in the church since his college days. While at Linfield he served as president of the Christian Union at the college and in Oregon as president of the Oregon Christian Youth Council. He has attended many national and international church conferences and while living in the Washington, D.C., area served as president of the Fairfax (Virginia) County Council of Churches. Most recently Millegan was vice president of Scarritt College, a senior college and graduate school of the Methodist Church located in Nashville.
